Background

She has a Master's Degree in Counseling and Positive Spiritual Psychology. She credits her ability to sit quietly, listen inwardly, and follow the guidance of her heart to her on-going yoga and meditation practices, as well as her life-long interest in personal and spiritual development. All were instrumental in assisting her in creating and living a life she absolutely loves.

It is her desire to teach you to do the same!

With 3,000 hours and two decades of experience in the life coaching, spiritual guidance, healing profession and movement living arts. She is grateful to her many teachers all her teachers and every student or client she has met for opening the door to her own path to freedom, recovery and health.

Nina's background as a counselor, therapist, Life coach, energy medicine, healing and yoga sparked my interest in the subtle and therapeutic aspects of yoga.
